NOBEL PRIZE LAUREATE, PROFESSOR AUMANN, TO SPEAK AT HOME GAME SCREENING

Special Jerusalem Cinemateque Screening with Panel Discussion

JERUSALEM, ISRAEL, August 1, 2007: A special screening of the film “Home Game” will take place at the Jerusalem Cinemateque at 9:30 PM with Nobel Laureate, Professor Auman, speaking on the panel. The panel discussion will address Professor Auman’s ‘Game Theory’ and see how it relates to the content of the film with the following topic: ‘Are games an escape from reality.’

“Home Game” has become known throughout the Jewish world as a captivating new film that encapsulates the surreal story of normal teenagers trying to continue an annual basketball tournament during a very abnormal summer in Israel – the summer of 2005 during the disengagement from Gaza. This powerful film emphasizes the journey of these teenagers and their determination to win against all odds, both on and off the court.
